Water and solids 1) in the body as a whole and 2) in the larger divisions and the organs. Data on this head have been published by Lowrey (13) and are here presented. With the exception of one of the old rats the animals used for the following table 75 were reared at the University of Missouri. They were fed on chopped corn with a daily ration of bread soaked in whole milk and once a week a small quantity of fresh beef was given them. All were sound except some of the older animals which suffered from infected lungs--but not to...
