Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from A First Study of Inheritance in Epilepsy, Vol. 38 Epilepsy is employed in this paper in a wide sense to include not only cases of well-marked convulsions, but also cases in which there has been only momentary loss of consciousness. Other, physically less marked cases of epilepsy and various epileptiform and border-line cases have undoubtedly been frequently overlooked in the necessarily somewhat hurried investigations into the pedigrees of patients. Given epilepsy as thus defined our problem is: what laws, if any, are followed in its occurrence in successive generations? How often does it arise de novo in a strain showing elsewhere no mental weakness? What relation does it bear to alcoholism, to paralysis, to migraine and to other symptoms of lack of neural strength? The answer to these questions can be reached only by a study of the pedigrees of families containing epileptics in which the psychic history of numerous members is precisely known.
